

MOTOWN SOLUTIONS

Do you need a CTO, or a CTO's judgment?

SWIPE

You may not need a full-time CTO

They need someone senior making the few technical calls a month that are expensive to get wrong.

Hard calls get made and written down

Rewrite or refactor, build or buy. Each decision is recorded with its tradeoffs.

Hiring stops being a guess

Role scoped, brief written, technical interviews run alongside the founders.

The board gets a straight answer

The technical update comes from someone who can answer the follow-up questions.

It starts with a two-week audit

A fixed-scope review of stack, team and roadmap, with written findings and no obligation.

Read the full write-up

motowntech.com/blog/fractional-cto-for-startups

LINK IN THE COMMENTS